

Hope for Quick Fortas O.K. Fades

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee wound up two days of questioning of Judge Homer Thornberry on his nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court today as one member warned he might want the judge to return for more hearings in the fall.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said he feels there is no vacancy for Thornberry to fill on the court unless Associate Justice Abe Fortas is confirmed by the Senate to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Thurmond declined to question Thornberry and told him, "I would hope the chairman of the committee would ask you to come back later."

Thornberry was excused today as a witness, subject to the call of the chairman.

The Senate is not expected to reach a showdown in the fight over Fortas' nomination until at least September.

Thornberry drew fire from the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as he refused to comment on court opinions off the bench.

Thornberry contended, as Fortas had done in four days of hearings last week, that the separation of powers between the judicial, executive and legislative branches of the government, under the Constitution, prevents a judge from being questioned on his decisions by another branch.

Eastland asked Thornberry: "Would you ever permit a witness on the stand to refuse to answer a question as you have here?"

The white-haired judge said he couldn't recall such a situation arising, but said, "I suspect you are right."

"I know I'm right," said Eastland.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., attacking a Thornberry ruling overturning the Texas poll tax, suggested the judge was trying to exercise "the right of a judicial nominee to refrain from self-incrimination."

The conservative Liberty Lobby, meanwhile, introduced strong opposition to confirmation of Fortas to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren.

W. B. Hicks Jr., the lobby's executive secretary, in prepared testimony assailed what he called Justice Fortas' record of permissiveness toward communism, crime and corruption.

Hicks also called Fortas "a fixer" who tried to keep the Walter Jenkins and Bobby Baker cases from embarrassing the Johnson administration.

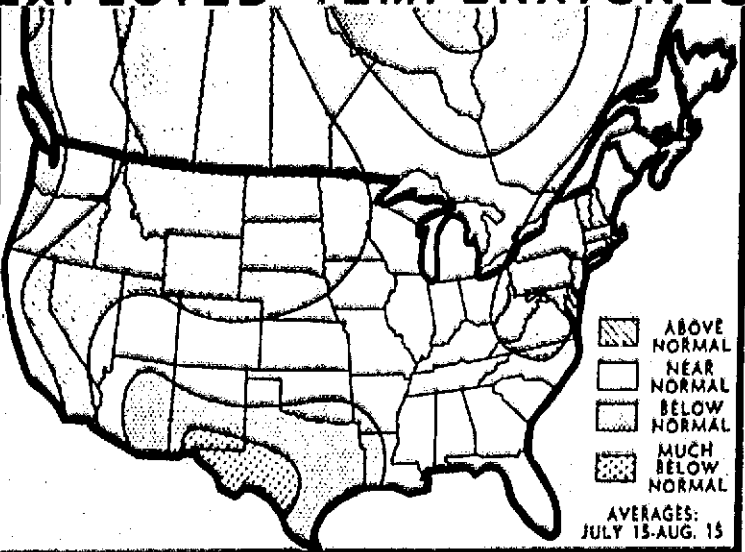

Eastland said he will call a committee meeting this week to consider the Fortas nomination but Senate leaders said floor action probably will not come until after Labor Day because of a long recess for political conventions.

"It looks that way," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

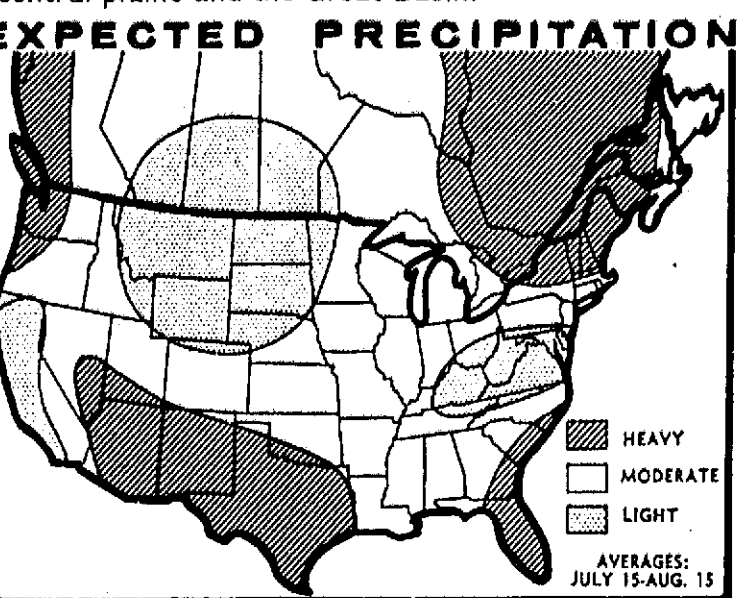

He said a Senate session is not likely to be sandwiched between the Republican National Convention starting Aug. 5 and the Democratic convention to begin Aug. 26.

the case.
Dist. Atty. Gen. Lhl Canel told the court he had conferred with Hanes about having the trial in late September. But, he said, it might last until the Nov. 5 general election. Under Tennessee law, sequestered jurors cannot cast ballots.

Canel suggested the Nov. 12 date and Battle asked if it could be set earlier. Hanes said he felt the case would be completed in six weeks—the time between late September and election day.

"But I have no idea what the prosecution will put on," Hanes said.

"All right," Battle responded, "Let's set the case for Nov. 12." The wood-paneled courtroom was filled by about 70 persons, including nearly 50 newsmen and about a dozen plain-clothed officers.

Maj. Jas. F. Russell Is Graduated

MAJ. JAMES F. RUSSELL

NORFOLK, Va. — Army Major James F. Russell, son of Mrs. Lois Russell, 1318 S. Main St., Hope, was graduated from the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., June 28.

He was one of 289 graduating students representing all services of the armed forces of the United States, U.S. government agencies and five allied nations. Sir Patrick Dean, British Ambassador to the United States, delivered the graduation address.

The Armed Forces Staff College, established in 1946, is operated under the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the Department of Defense. The five-month course stresses preparation for future assignments to joint and combined commands—commands in which armed forces of more than one military service, or more than one nation, are involved.

Study is conducted through seminars, lectures, outside reading and research. Joint and combined operational planning is emphasized, including effects of new technological advances upon such planning. National and international security and international affairs are included.

Major Russell entered on active duty in 1956. He holds the Bronze Star Medal, the Air Medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

A 1952 graduate of Hope High School, he received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, Ark., where he received his B.A. degree in 1956. He received his M.S. degree in 1964 from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

NEW WAVE

have infiltrated the capital city in preparation for the third major offensive of the year expected within the next two months.

Allied defenses around Saigon were promised more reinforcements today with the arrival of the first contingent of a new infantry division from Thailand. Some 1,500 troops of Thailand's 12,000-man Black Panther Division arrived at the U.S. Army's Newport port facility just north of the capital.

The Thai division will have a dual mission: to block enemy infiltration into Saigon from the northeast, where elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division are said to be based, and to smash Viet Cong guerrilla bands in Bien Hoa province, east of the capital, easing the threat of enemy harassment against allied military installations there.

Along the northern frontier, an outnumbered U.S. Marine force hurled back a North Vietnamese battalion near Khe Sanh Sunday. The enemy opened up with mortars before launching a ground probe at dusk, U.S. headquarters said. While Marine artillery pounded the North Vietnamese, the defending Marines unleashed heavy automatic weapons fire.

When the fighting died down two hours later, the Leathernecks counted 12 enemy bodies outside their positions and reported 10 of their own men wounded.

East of Khe Sanh near Con Thien, Marine fighter pilots and artillery wiped out most of a 30-man North Vietnamese unit that was spotted moving in an open area. The U.S. Command reported 22 North Vietnamese bodies were found.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 10 Viet Cong and capturing 21 others during sweep through the Mekong Delta, 70 miles southwest of Saigon.

Restraint on Price, Wage Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential panel, saying wage and price increases are on a "dangerous road," is calling on both labor and business this week to use utmost restraints.

The Cabinet Committee on Price Stability, in a statement mailed to several hundred industry and union leaders, says the wage-price upsurge could offset benefits from the new tax increase and federal spending cuts.

It cites average annual price increases of 4 per cent and wage hikes of 6 to 7 per cent and says:

"This is a dangerous road. The public interest is clearly violated by any price increases that widen profit margins and any wage settlements that extend the recent disturbing pattern."

A ranking government official said the Cabinet group has ruled out mandatory wage-price controls as an acceptable solution. "The only solution is for people to behave sensibly," he said.

Big Strike Vote Due for Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union is counting on a big strike vote in the next few days to put pressure on the industry for a hefty contract settlement.

"The companies will move when they see the vote," said one union official.

Almost 390,000 men at 600 locals across the country and in Canada will get a chance to express their sentiment in the union's first poll of the membership. They are expected to vote overwhelmingly in favor of a strike. The only question is how big the margin will be.

Only nine days remain until the steelworkers will be free to strike. There has been no public indication of progress in the bargaining on wages and fringe benefits.

The company-level talks on contract language are marking time until the vote is held.

in the United States. I've seen what these things can do to people and there ought to be some sort of control.

"But if a guy is crazy enough to kill (in the United States), he'll find a way to get a weapon. If there's no pistol or rifle around, he'll use a baseball bat."

A few GIs said that when they returned home they planned to get rid of the weapons they had in the States, particularly hand guns.

In the past, a few have said Vietnam had even soured them on hunting and that they would never take another life, even that of an animal, once they got out of Vietnam.

Several GIs deplored what has been called the arms race in some U.S. cities with racial unrest. A common remark was that those who had not seen what guns can do to another human couldn't fully realize the consequences of pulling a trigger in anger until it was too late.

Bruce Bennett presents three new ways to improve Arkansas' future

STATE AID FOR PORT FACILITIES

Ten years ago there was no need for port facilities on our major rivers. Now the Ouachita River is navigable to Camden, the White River will soon be navigable to Newport, and the great Arkansas River will be navigable to Little Rock this year and to Ft. Smith next year.

If we are to reap the full benefit of navigation on our rivers, the cities along the streams must have port facilities for the shipment and receipt of products transported by water.

After a close study of the problems, when I am governor, if it is found necessary I will propose a program of state aid to towns and cities on the navigable streams for the establishment of port facilities. This need not be any great expenditure, but an amount sufficient to establish the needed ports. May I point out that this will not be a recurring expense. Once the ports are established they will be left to the control and maintenance of the local areas.

If federal aid should become available for such purposes, we will utilize the federal funds to the fullest extent possible.

All of us know that our state and the whole area will be the loser unless we build and maintain the facilities that will be required to take full advantage of the great new Arkansas River system through the heart of our state and in the heart of the great Southwest. If state aid is required, the chief executive will be fully justified in making such a recommendation and pushing it to a successful conclusion.

MATCHING FUND PROGRAM FOR LOCAL TOURIST DEVELOPMENT

The tourist trade is growing by leaps and bounds. It becomes a more important economic factor every day. This is especially true in our state, Arkansas, with its beautiful mountains, its many streams and lakes, its many historical sites, its excellent hunting and fishing, can be the greatest tourist and recreation center in the nation. We must continue our publicity program. We must maintain and improve our system of state parks and historic sites, now numbering 34, of which 28 were established in the last Democratic administration. (Incidentally, none were established in the present administration.) Many more fine parks can, and must be established for the use of the tourists, and for the use and benefit of our own people.

In this connection I have a new proposal. I will recommend a program of state aid for the creation and construction of city, county and regional parks. Then, many areas may be able to go ahead with plans, some already in the making, without sitting back and waiting for the state to do the job alone. By assisting local units of government in such endeavors, many projects can be built at an earlier date. Such a program could save state funds in that such projects could be built with local assistance, thus removing the necessity of the state doing the job alone.

NEW DIVISION OF A.I.D.C.

To Create Arkansas plants for the processing of Arkansas farm products

Much of our farm produce is now shipped out of Arkansas for processing in other areas. Therefore, I will propose the creation of a new division of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission (AIDC) for the specific purpose of creating and establishing of plants in Arkansas for the processing of Arkansas farm products. This can include meat packing plants, soybean and rice mills, additional plants to turn raw cotton into cloth, carpets and other finished products, and any other plant that can process farm or forest products.

The new division can also deal with marketing problems in order to help the farmers of Arkansas obtain a fair price for their farm produce.

I am sure we can be successful in this field, just as we were successful with the original industrial program. The reduced cost of transportation, the availability of good quality farm produce and our dependable Arkansas labor, are factors which will be advantageous to such processing plants. Four examples of the type plants I have in mind are the Gerber plant in Ft. Smith and the Atkins Pickle plant at Atkins in Pope County, Welch Grape Juice Company Inc. in Springdale, and Campbell Soup Company in Fayetteville.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JON FINCHER

The Church of Christ of Nashville was the setting July 12 at 8 p.m. for a candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Donna Laymon of Washington and Jon Fincher of Hope. Parents of the bride are Mrs. J. B. O'Dell of Grand Forks, N.D., and Dave Laymon of Tacoma, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fincher of Hope are parents of the groom.

Milton Peebles, pastor of the Walnut Street Church of Christ in Hope, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Lighting the candles before the wedding were Miss Jan O'Dell of Grand Forks, N.D., sister of the bride, and Miss Rhonda Ducar of Dallas, cousin of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before an altar of greenery with branch-candelabra holding burning tapers flanked by baskets of white gladioli. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, J. B. O'Dell of Grand Forks, N.D., wore a floor-length A-line gown of Chantilly lace over peau de sole encrusted with seed pearls around the neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a scalloped hem line. For a veil the bride wore a mantilla attached to a turban of peau de sole encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of miniature carnations centered with a white orchid, fashioned by her cousin, Mrs. Patrick Martin of Oklahoma City, Okla. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, a gift of the bridegroom. The traditional "something old, new, borrowed, and blue and a sixpence in her shoe" completed her ensemble.

Miss Daphne Fincher of Hope, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Joan Porterfield of Paris, Tex., cousin of the bride. Each carried a colonial-type long-stemmed mum. Little Paula Ducar, another cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Cecil Fincher served his son as best man. Groomsman was Ronnie Faulkner of Hope, brother-in-law of the groom. James Little and Jimmie Brown, both of Hope, ushered.

The bride's mother was attired in an A-line aqua silk linen dress with matching accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

corsage. Mrs. Fincher, mother of the groom, wore a costume suit of mint silk crepe with matching accessories. Her corsage was a green orchid.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chism of Washington, entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Chester Dotson, aunt of the bride, introduced the guests to the receiving line. Receiving with the couple, their mothers, and members of the wedding party were Mrs. David Moore and Mrs. Roy Fincher, both of Lake Village and grandmothers of the bridegroom.

The table was covered with floor-length green taffeta overlaid with net and centered with an arrangement of carnations and daisy mums, flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Sprays of white lilies of the valley tied with white satin bows and streamers with love knots edged the net and were placed down the center of the table. A tiered wedding cake was served by Miss Phillis Vines of Hope, and punch was poured by Miss Carla Martin of Washington. Assisting in serving were Mrs. W. I. Stroud and Mrs. Douglas Chism, both of Washington. Members of the house party had gardenia corsages.

For travel the bride chose a two-piece gold silk jersey suit with matching accessories and planned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 1305 South Main, Imperial Apartments, Hope.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ducar, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Vance Porterfield and Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Porterfield, Paris, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dotson, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Venard Puryear, Mr. and Mrs. Green Fincher and Laurie, Mrs. Nora Jackson, Little Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Allen, Fort Smith; Mrs. Allen Webb, Texarkana; Mrs. Jay Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. David Nicholas, Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Earl May, Bodcaw; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cox, Patmos; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Marlar, Falcon; Mrs. Helen Clanton and Bennie Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dougan, Ozan; Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Fincher, Martha and Roy, Houston; and Misses Helen and Janie McAffry, Mr. and Mrs. David Moore, Mrs. Roy Fincher, Lake Village.

Don't Skimp on Basin

Buying a small wash basin for your bathroom because it costs less is false economy. The difference in price is slight but the roomier bowl is more convenient for washing, shampooing your hair and doing your hand laundry.

Bathrooms Growing

People are becoming disenchanted with small bathrooms. Whereas bathrooms averaged 5x7, many now are at least 8x10 feet. Off-the-floor water closets, already popular in public washrooms, are being installed in more and more homes. They make floor cleaning much easier.

Ruth St. Denis, Dance Star, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ruth St. Denis, the "First Lady of the American dance," died Sunday at 88 in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital. She had been treated periodically for heart trouble since 1966, the year in which she last danced publicly.

Willowy, erect and energetic, Miss St. Denis continued lecturing and teaching until her death, saying, "The creative life — that is what keeps me going."

At 16 she was dancing for $25 a week in a vaudeville theater. David Belasco, the New York producer, changed her name from Dennis and cast her in his shows for five years.

She became famous overnight in 1906 when she danced her innovative "The Incense," based on a Hindu theme and set in a freer form than American audiences had seen before.

"Before I started, there was no dance in America except vaudeville and the group doing Italian-type ballet at the Metropolitan," she said once.

The idiom she created evolved through the work of her proteges, including Martha Graham, Charles Weidman and Doris Humphrey.

With her husband and dancing partner, Ted Shawn, she founded the Denishawn School in 1915 in Los Angeles. They separated without divorcing in 1929, saying that when they were together their love flourished but their creativity didn't. Later they worked together occasionally, notably in 1964 celebrating their 50th anniversary.

Shawn, now 76, still operates the Jacob's Ladder dance festival at Lee, Mass.

Miss St. Denis was born in Newark, N.J., and grew up on a farm.

According to tradition, Joseph of Arimathea founded the first Christian church in England.

Baltimore Beats Detroit in Twin Bill

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Earl Weaver knew what it would take to make him happy, but the question is: what does it take to make Mayo Smith unhappy?

Smith, with a stiff upper lip, watched the Baltimore Orioles sweep a doubleheader from his Detroit club 5-2 and 4-1, Sunday, turning the Tigers' American League pennant runaway into a pennant race, and still he found reason to rejoice.

"I'd have liked someone to tell me we would be 5½ games in front this late in the season," he managed to say with a smile. This despite the fact that the Tigers led the league by 9½ games 10 days ago at the All-Star break.

The happiness of Weaver, who is 9-3 since taking over from Hank Bauer as Baltimore's manager, is easier to believe.

"Three out of four was what we wanted," he said of the Orioles three straight victories over the Tigers after Friday night's loss.

Alvin Dark, manager of Cleveland, can't be too sad either after his Indians walked backward into third place and still gained ground on Detroit.

The Indians are also 5½ games back, two percentage points behind Baltimore, after beating the New York Yankees 4-1 and then losing 8-4.

Boston, 9½ games out, also missed a chance to climb closer by splitting with Washington, winning 4-3 before losing 4-3.

Completing the full schedule of doubleheaders, Minnesota swept Oakland 7-5 and 10-0 and the Chicago White Sox stumped California 5-1 before losing 7-0.

In the National League, St. Louis split with the New York Mets, winning 2-0 before losing 1-0.

San Francisco defeated Houston 6-1 after losing 2-1 in 10 innings; Pittsburgh blanked Atlanta 6-0; Cincinnati crushed Philadelphia 12-6, and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-2.

The Orioles, who get three more shots at Detroit this weekend, replaced Cleveland in second place on the pitching of Jim Hardin, Tom Phoebus and Gene Brabender.

Hardin, 12-5, scattered seven hits for the first game victory. He was in command after Detroit's Tom Matchick tied the score 2-2 with a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and got the run he needed when Frank Robinson doubled and Boog Powell singled him home in the sixth off Earl Wilson, 7-8.

Dave Johnson, who had three hits, scored twice and drove in one run, and Curt Blefary later homered for insurance runs.

Phoebus, 10-9, who left six Tigers on base in five innings, left in favor of Brabender with the bases loaded and one out in the sixth of the nightcap, and Brabender completed the three-hitter by retiring 11 consecutive hitters.

Powell slugged his 15th homer for Baltimore's first run and Johnson rapped two doubles for two more runs and scored once on Phoebus' hit.

Sam McDowell, 10-8, with shutout relief help from rookie Vincente Romo from the sixth inning, got Cleveland home in their opener, but the Indians walked themselves out of second place in the nightcap.

Starter Steve Hargan walked in two runs, reliever Mike Paul walked and batted in two more and Hal Kurtz walked in still another.

10 in a Row for Cards' Bob Gibson

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jerry Koosman split a spot with Bob Gibson when the New York Mets stacked the deck at St. Louis ... and Jim McAndrew got caught in the shuffle.

Gibson hurled his 10th consecutive victory and seventh shutout Sunday as the Cardinals spoiled McAndrew's major league pitching debut by shading New York 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Koosman, deliberately held out of a direct confrontation with Gibson, then pitched the Mets to a 1-0 victory, setting a club shutout record in the process and matching the St. Louis ace's 13-5 season mark.

McAndrew, who battled Gibson to a standoff until Bob Tolan tagged an inside-the-park homer in the sixth inning, wasn't around to see Met Manager Gil Hodges' gambit pay off in a split with the National League leaders.

The Mets returned the 24-year-old right-hander to their Jacksonville farm club after the first game.

Second-place Atlanta bowed to Pittsburgh 6-0 and fell 10½ games behind the Cardinals. The Cincinnati Reds slugged Philadelphia 12-6 for their fourth straight triumph and climbed into a third place tie with the Phillies and San Francisco Giants — 63 games off the pace.

The Giants divided a twin bill with Houston, dropping the opener 2-1 in 10 innings and taking the nightcap 6-1. Chicago cuffed Los Angeles 7-2 in a single game.

Baltimore swept Detroit's American League leaders 5-2 and 4-1; Minnesota took two from Oakland 7-5 and 10-0; the New York Yankees stopped Cleveland 8-4 after a 4-1 loss to the Indians; the Chicago White Sox beat California 5-1 before falling to the Angels 7-0 and Boston split a pair of 4-3 verdicts with Washington.

Gibson, unbeaten since May 28, scattered seven hits and struck out 13 in outlasting McAndrew under a blazing sun at St. Louis.

Koosman stayed at the head of the Mets' talented young mound staff with a brilliant four-hitter in the nightcap. He struck out 12 on the way to his fifth shutout—a Mets season mark.

New York nicked Nelson Briles, 11-7, for the game's lone run in the sixth, when Cleon Jones singled, took second on an infield out and tallied on a single by J.C. Martin.

Home runs by Willie Stargell, Donn Clendenon and Jose Pagan propelled Pittsburgh's Steve Blass to his seventh straight victory and gave the Pirates a sweep of their three-game set at Atlanta.

Stargell got the Pirates started with a three-run first inning blast off Milt Pappas and Blass checked the Braves on seven hits, bringing his season record to 8-2.

Lee May, Jim Beauchamp and pitcher Tony Cloninger belted homers and Leo Cardenas stroked a single, double, triple and sacrifice fly, good for three RBIs, as the Reds buried Philadelphia under a 15-hit barrage.

Cloninger went seven innings before giving way to relief ace Ted Abernathy and picked up only his second victory against five setbacks.

Dick Simpson's run-scoring single in the 10th sent the Astros past the Giants in the first game. Southpaw Mike McCormick throttled the Astros on six hits in the nightcap while rookie Bobby Bonds triggered San Francisco's attack with three hits.

With Willie McCovey nursing a knee injury in the second game, the Giants brought Willie Mays in from the outfield to play first base for the first time since 1954. He handled eight chances without a flaw.

Billy Williams poled a pair of two-run homers and delivered another run with a sacrifice fly as the Cubs trimmed the Dodgers behind Bill Hands, 10-5, and reliever Phil Regan.

Dick Crawford of Bella Vista shot a 70 Sunday and picked up $1,082. His 289 total resulted from rounds of 71-75-73-70.

Pal Paces Damascus to Victory

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like all millionaires, Damascus has a servant.

Damascus' man, or rather horse, is Hedevar, and he is called on to serve on special occasions—such as when Damascus races against Dr. Fager.

It's Hedevar's job to force Dr. Fager into a fast pace while Damascus lies back and reserves himself for the stretch run.

It worked last year in the Woodward and it worked again Saturday in the 1¼-mile Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct.

Damascus caught Dr. Fager with about one-eighth of a mile to go and beat him to the wire by 2½ lengths in the track-record time of 1:59 1-5.

The first prize of $71,110 out of the $109,400 gross purse made Damascus the eighth millionaire thoroughbred. Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's 4-year-old colt, the 1967 Horse of the Year, now has earned $1,025,526.

While Damascus was capping his $1 million drive, the 2-year-olds also were after big money Saturday.

Fleet Kirsch won the $180,850 Hollywood Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park, and Big Advance, ridden by Braulio Baeza who also rode Dr. Fager in the Brooklyn, scored in the $100,000-guaranteed Sorority at Monmouth Park.

Damascus' victory evens his series with the Tartan Stable star at 2-2. Dr. Fater won the Gotham last year and the Suburban this year. Hedevar was not in either race.

Alvora Pineda got Fleet Kirsch, a 7-1 shot, home 1¼-lengths in front of One More Chorus in the Hollywood Juvenile.

In winning his first stakes, Fleet Kirsch stepped the six furlongs in the stakes record of 1:09 1-5 and took down $125,850 for his owner, A.F. McClellan.

Text of G.&F. Ruling Against Permitting Dogs to Run at Large

By GEORGE PURVIS, Chief Information-Education Division

LITTLE ROCK — In order to completely clarify its stand on the control of dogs in game areas, the Game and Fish Commission modified its present free-running dog law to outline the status of pet dogs, dogs protecting property, and dogs performing labor for their masters.

The new regulations states: "SECTION 1 - The Commission finds that scientific research has established that the running of dogs at large during the period April 1, through July 31 of each year is detrimental to and destructive of wild animals and birds, and that the reasonable restraint of dogs is essential to an abundant wildlife supply in the state.

Therefore, this regulation applies to dogs only that are running at large or in the pursuit of game and fur bearing animals.

SECTION 2 - It shall be unlawful for any person owning or having control over any dog to permit such dog to chase or pursue any wild animal or wild bird during the period from April 1 through July 31, of any year, and the owner or person in control of any dog so chasing or pursuing any wild animal or wild bird during this period shall be guilty of violating this regulation.

SECTION 3 - This order shall not apply to any dog licensed and restrained under any valid municipal regulation while in such municipality or to any dog within an area enclosed by a dog proof fence or to dogs used as pets; dogs used in protection of property; dogs performing labor for their masters and not being used to hunt and run any wild game or fur bearing animals of this state during the period set forth herein.

PENALTY: Any person owning or having control of a dog who violates this regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, fined in any sum not less than $25.00, nor more than $250.00."

In other business during the July session the Commission heard only one delegation that asked for cleanup action on a small bayou in North Little Rock. The Commission agreed to contact the State Board of Health and Water Pollution Control Commission for aid since the Game & Fish had no jurisdiction in such matters.

Action receiving approval of the Commission was the purchase of a 40-acre tract of land in the Pett Jean hunting area near Plainview, the purchase of a 35-acre tract that would be flooded by a water storage reservoir to be used in flooding the Galla Creek hunting area near Atkins, to purchase a water supply pump for the Centerton State Fish hatchery, and entered into a contract with the University of Arkansas for a study of white bass on Lake Beaver.

The commission set up an $100,000 fund for the maintenance of fisheries projects, allocated $7,500 for the construction of a public access area on White River at the Wattensaw hunting area in connection with an elaborate recreation area built by the State Highway Department in consideration for the interstate right-of-way through the hunting area, and established a special frogging license for owners of fish farms.

The next meeting of the Commission will be held on August 12 in Mountain Home.

Turner put together rounds of 73 and 78 on the 6,000 yard par 70 Pineview course, two strokes off the winner, Stan Stephens of Texarkana. Jack's first day 73 put him two-up on Stephens, but the Texarkana lad came back with a 74 to win.

Ralph Routon was entered in the tourney's 14-17 division, but a bad opening day round placed him in the third flight where he eventually placed fifth.

The next tournament for these Juniors will be the Prairie Grove Country Club Junior Championship in Crossett this Friday.

Boros Has to Win; Kids in College

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Julius Boros, the grand old man of pro golf, has some bad news for the young Turks on the tour.

The 48-year-old champion of the 1968 PGA tournament plans to keep on playing and playing.

"I've got seven kids to educate—and the first one starts to college in a couple of years," Boros said after winning the PGA crown Sunday for the first time in his long career.

"As an old accountant, I know what kind of money that means."

Boros worked as a bookkeeper for years before he turned pro at the age of 29.

"I'd like to drop off the tour—but I can't find anything else to do to make the kind of money I'll need to get those kids through college," Boros said.

The paunchy, sweet-swinging hero of the middle-aged set was able to boost the college kitty with a $25,000 check for his one-stroke edge over Arnold Palmer and New Zealand southpaw Bob Charles in the frenzied finish at the Pecan Valley Course.

They all started the final round two strokes off the pace. Boros fired a one-under-par 69 for a 281 total, and Palmer and Charles each turned in a 70 for 282.

Palmer made a dramatic bid for a tying birdie on the 18th with a spectacular three-wood blast from the rough to the green, but he missed the eight-foot putt and took a par.

"Maybe it's just not to be," said Palmer, who has never won a PGA title and has been in a slump for months.

Tied for fourth were George Archer, who closed with a 69, and Marty Fleckman, who led for three rounds but slipped to a finishing 73. They had 283 totals.

Frank Beard, who shared the lead with Fleckman on the second and third rounds, faded to a 74 and finished in a tie for sixth at 284 with Billy Casper, who closed with a 70.

Lee Trevino, the sentimental favorite of San Antonio's Mexican-American residents, shot himself out of contention with a pair of double bogeys on the first six holes. He was back in the pack at 288 after his final-round 76.

Taliaferro Is Traded to Patriots

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a week early, but Mike Taliaferro is well satisfied with his birthday gift—a new uniform.

The veteran quarterback, who will be 27 Friday, will be wearing a Boston Patriots outfit this fall when the American Football League season opens.

That's just the way Taliaferro wanted it. After playing behind Joe Namath for three years with the New York Jets, Taliaferro asked to be traded for an opportunity to win a starting job.

The Jets obliged Saturday by dealing him to the Patriots for 38-year-old veteran Babe Parilli, who shared the starting job with Don Trull last season. Taliaferro will battle Trull for the yards after suffering a shoulder separation in a preseason game.

"Trull will start out a little ahead, because he was with us last year," Patriots' General Manager Coach Mike Holovak said, referring to the 1967 season when he was traded to the Patriots from Houston. "But Taliaferro will get every chance to win the job."

Taliaferro needs only three more games on active duty to become eligible for the AFL and has always been an excellent player, but he shrugs that off. "To get the pension I have to live until 65," he said. "I'm thinking of now."

Taliaferro had little chance to play behind Namath, who set a pro passing record of 4,007 yards last season, breaking Parilli's mark of 3,465 in 1964 when he was the AFL's all-star quarterback.

Taliaferro, of the University of Illinois, managed only 20 passes, completing 11 for 96 yards after suffering a shoulder separation in a preseason game.

Parilli, a 14-year veteran of the Canadian League and the AFL, had heard the cheers of 1964 turn to boos last season. He completed 161 passes in 344 attempts for 2,317 yards and 19 touchdowns and had 24 interceptions as the Patriots finished last in the Eastern Division.

"Babe still has a great arm and has always been an excellent player, but he shrugs that off. We feel we have a good chance to win the Eastern Division title this year and wanted to get a backup quarterback such as Babe to insure our chances."

Veteran fullback Bill Brown walked out of the Minnesota Vikings training camp Sunday, apparently in a contract dispute. Brown could not be reached for comment, but a club official said they were sure his departure was linked to the contract difficulties.

The seven-year veteran is the club's leading ground gainer.

Three tackles, starters Sherman Plunkett and Paul Roche, and reserve Jim Harris, reported to the New York Jets' training camp overweight and were ordered to pay their own room and board.

The action was taken by Coach Eubank, who also said Plunkett and Rochester had lost their starting jobs and must regain them.

Plunkett weighed in at 337-37 pounds over, Rochester was six over at 256 and Harris has shed 17 of the 303 pounds he reported with last week—but it wasn't enough.

Ask Humphrey to Quit VP; He Says 'No'

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two Democratic governors have told Hubert H. Humphrey he needs a dramatic political initiative to enlist new supporters and accelerate his White House campaign—and one of them suggested that the move be his resignation as vice president.

Gov. Philip T. Hoff of Vermont said he suggested resignation to Humphrey as a declaration of political independence from President Johnson and the administration. He said he told Humphrey his major campaign problem is that "you can't be your own man" while serving as vice president.

But he said Humphrey replied he could not resign the job to which he was elected.

Hoff and Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine, both former supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination, met secretly with the vice president in Washington one week ago.

They told of that meeting in interviews at a national governors conference marked by talk of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as a potent choice for second spot on a ticket headed by Humphrey.

Curtis, who did not join in Hoff's suggestion that Humphrey resign, said Kennedy's nomination might provide the drama and appeal he believes the Humphrey campaign now needs.

While Hoff and Curtis talked critically of the Humphrey campaign, they did not translate this into any hint of support for the vice president's chief rival, Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Hoff said he is uncommitted, added: "I have been stewing because I love Hubert Humphrey." Curtis said he leans toward support of Humphrey for the nomination.

They said Humphrey's nomination is not inevitable, but both expressed reservations about McCarthy.

"Perhaps, I've been around politics just too long to be too idealistic," Curtis said, "because I think it's going to take more than just an expression of ideals that Sen. McCarthy has to run the country."

"There is a certain remoteness about him," Hoff said of McCarthy, "and I guess I would call it a lack of leadership."

Republicans were talking of the White House race, too, but there was no sign of significant movement by or for their prospective nominees.

The latest arrival: California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who came to Cincinnati from a campaign-style Southern swing and said he would not be announcing active candidacy for the GOP nomination. "I couldn't possibly make a change on that at this time," he said. "We'll go to the convention and then it's up to the delegates."

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said in his view Rockefeller is "a pretty active candidate now," without benefit of a formal announcement. Rockefeller sandwiched visits to the conference between stints of presidential campaigning.

And the political gents of Richard M. Nixon, now the Republican frontrunner, kept watch on the proceedings, claimed they have enough convention support to win the nomination now and made public a series of polls indicating Nixon would defeat Humphrey in four major Eastern and Midwestern states.

It was among the Democrats that there were signs of political ferment. The evidence came not only from Hoff and Curtis, who have been critical of the administration, but also from a governor who has been a defender of President Johnson.

"I think Humphrey's got the nomination," this governor said, asking that his name not be used. "But there's something lacking. He doesn't seem to be catching on, catching fire. I don't know what it is."

Hoff said he believes at least four more Democratic governors share that concern. He said he planned to confer with them, beginning today.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two Democratic governors have told Hubert H. Humphrey he needs a dramatic political initiative to enlist new supporters and accelerate his White House campaign—and one of them suggested that the move be his resignation as vice president.

Gov. Philip T. Hoff of Vermont said he suggested resignation to Humphrey as a declaration of political independence from President Johnson and the administration. He said he told Humphrey his major campaign problem is that "you can't be your own man" while serving as vice president.

But he said Humphrey replied he could not resign the job to which he was elected.

Hoff and Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine, both former supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination, met secretly with the vice president in Washington one week ago.

They told of that meeting in interviews at a national governors conference marked by talk of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as a potent choice for second spot on a ticket headed by Humphrey.

Curtis, who did not join in Hoff's suggestion that Humphrey resign, said Kennedy's nomination might provide the drama and appeal he believes the Humphrey campaign now needs.

While Hoff and Curtis talked critically of the Humphrey campaign, they did not translate this into any hint of support for the vice president's chief rival, Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Hoff said he is uncommitted, added: "I have been stewing because I love Hubert Humphrey." Curtis said he leans toward support of Humphrey for the nomination.

They said Humphrey's nomination is not inevitable, but both expressed reservations about McCarthy.

"Perhaps, I've been around politics just too long to be too idealistic," Curtis said, "because I think it's going to take more than just an expression of ideals that Sen. McCarthy has to run the country."

"There is a certain remoteness about him," Hoff said of McCarthy, "and I guess I would call it a lack of leadership."

Republicans were talking of the White House race, too, but there was no sign of significant movement by or for their prospective nominees.

The latest arrival: California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who came to Cincinnati from a campaign-style Southern swing and said he would not be announcing active candidacy for the GOP nomination. "I couldn't possibly make a change on that at this time," he said. "We'll go to the convention and then it's up to the delegates."

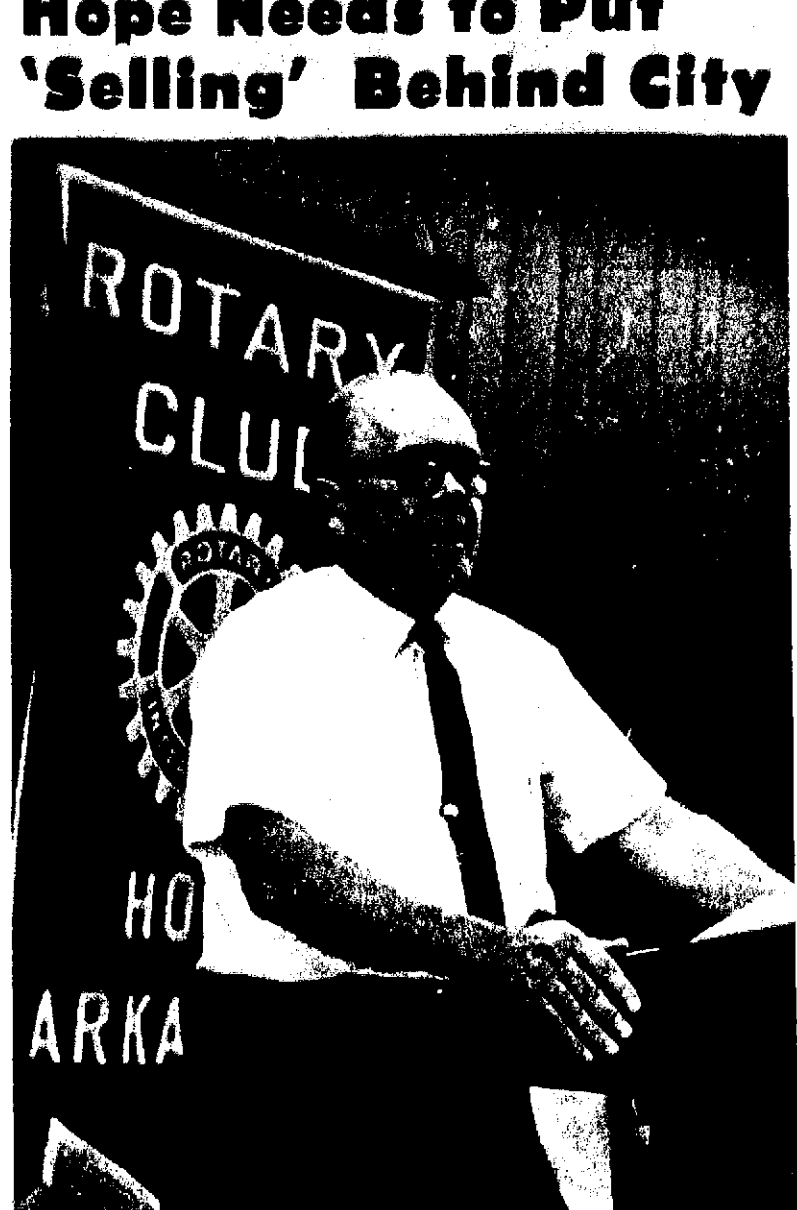

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said in his view Rockefeller is "a pretty active candidate now," without benefit of a formal announcement. Rockefeller sandwiched visits to the conference between stints of presidential campaigning.

And the political gents of Richard M. Nixon, now the Republican frontrunner, kept watch on the proceedings, claimed they have enough convention support to win the nomination now and made public a series of polls indicating Nixon would defeat Humphrey in four major Eastern and Midwestern states.

It was among the Democrats that there were signs of political ferment. The evidence came not only from Hoff and Curtis, who have been critical of the administration, but also from a governor who has been a defender of President Johnson.

"I think Humphrey's got the nomination," this governor said, asking that his name not be used. "But there's something lacking. He doesn't seem to be catching on, catching fire. I don't know what it is."

Hoff said he believes at least four more Democratic governors share that concern. He said he planned to confer with them, beginning today.

Giant Tent Collapses in Storm

By TIM CURRAN
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A giant show tent filled to capacity for a festival music program collapsed in a wind storm Sunday night, scattering a crowd of 2,500 persons.

Officials said about 40 persons were treated at hospitals for injuries, none serious. Most of the victims were teenagers struck by falling tent poles.

An estimated 20 other persons were treated at a first aid station.

Police, spectators and show officials said there generally was little sign of panic as support poles toppled into the tightly packed crowd, and sparks showered from overhead electric equipment.

One woman said the audience was watching a band about to start the program when "all of a sudden, the wind came underneath the tent and it started flying up," releasing the poles.

One of the injured, Miss Mary Pointek, 15, said she heard "a howling noise and a big ripping above me. The poles started swaying back and forth. I thought it was all part of the show at first. All of a sudden, everything collapsed around me."

Witnesses said the winds, accompanying a line of thunderstorms, lifted the canvas twice before it collapsed and cloaked about half the seating area.

Police said most of the audience got clear of the wreckage within 15 minutes, but that many people were still entangled in rope and canvas 45 minutes later.

The tent, covering an area larger than a football field, had been erected at a Lake Michigan shorefront park for a series of programs during the city's Summerfest '68, keyed to youth activities.

Steven Thorpe of Chicago, a trumpet player with the New Colony Six, which was beginning its performance, said a pole "hit me in the side of the head and knocked me off the stage."

A few persons said they thought they saw funnel-shaped clouds over Lake Michigan. But the Weather Bureau said there were "no twisters" in the storm that swept the state.

Nevertheless there has been a steady flow of refugees to the camp, which is now overcrowded. And it is only one of many refugee camps in the area.

"The conditions are the same in all the other places," said Father Ntla.

$100,000 for Detroit Title Go

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit group has offered $100,000 to either Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis to defend their portions of the heavyweight boxing title against the winner of a fight between Alvin "Blue" Lewis and Eduardo Coriotti at Detroit's Olympia Stadium Wednesday.

"We will offer either champion a minimum purse of $100,000 for a title bout," said Nick Londe, general manager of the Olympia Stadium. "The first one who accepts the offer will get the bout."

Frazier is the current world champion in New York, Pennsylvania, Maine, Massachusetts and Delaware. Ellis holds the title for the World Boxing Association, which includes Michigan.

Orioles Are Irrate Over 'Bean Ball'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, a major league manager for 11 days, has issued his first warning about knockdown pitches.

The skipper of the Baltimore Orioles issued his retaliation-is-the-only-recourse blast in Detroit Sunday, while still bristling about the near beaning Saturday of Baltimore outfielder Frank Robinson by Detroit's John Wyatt.

Weaver, who joined the Orioles as a coach this season, said he is "tired of seeing baseballs whizz close to the heads of Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson."

"They are being forced to get up off the ground too often," Weaver said. "If it does not stop, my pitchers are going to do something about it. We are going to hit them and make it hurt enough so they will remember it."

2 Red Sox Fined for 'Night Out'

BOSTON (AP) — Two Boston Red Sox baseball players were fined $500 by the club for curfew violations and face court arraignment today on charges of being drunk.

Third baseman Joe Foy, 25, and pitcher Juan Pizarro, 31, were arrested at 3 a.m. Sunday after their car and a taxi collided near Boston Common. Police said Foy was driving.

Manager Dick Williams suspended both players for the curfew violation. The curfew requires both players to be in bed by 12:30 a.m. and within 2 1/2 hours following night games.

Both players were not at Fenway Park for Sunday's doubleheader with Washington. This automatically cost them a day's pay.

Police said Foy and Pizarro became involved in a heated dispute with the two officers who arrived at the scene of the accident.

Bill Hall Winner of Ouchita

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Bill Hall of Camden, a former University of Arkansas golfer, set a tournament record and a competitive course record Sunday when he captured the Ouachita Valley Invitational title.

Hall shot 73-66 Sunday for a 9-under-par total of 275 — the first time in the history of the tournament that a player had finished below par for 72 holes.

Hall's second round was a competitive course record.

Hall shot 67 Friday and 69 Saturday. He had a 7-stroke lead over Sug Wilson of Hot Springs and Wayne Meeks of Camden entering the final 36 holes.

Nigeria and Biafra Open Talks

BY ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
NIAEMEYER, Niger (AP) — Representatives of Nigeria and secessionist Biafra have begun talks aimed at breaking the stalemate that is keeping food from millions of refugees threatened with starvation in the breakaway West African tribal state.

The two delegations met Sunday in Niamay, the Niger capital northwest of Nigeria and agreed on an agenda for peace talks getting under way soon in Ethiopia. A communiqué issued after the conference said the delegates also discussed "concrete proposals for the transportation of relief to the civilian victims of the war."

There was no indication, however, of any progress toward agreement on relief measures.

Another meeting was scheduled today. It was expected to discuss a starting date for the peace conference in Addis Ababa.

Millions of persons are on the verge of starvation and as many as 1,200 persons are said to be dying daily in surrounded, landlocked Biafra and in areas recaptured by advancing federal troops.

Federal authorities have offered to open a land route for relief shipments to Biafra, but the Biafrans have refused, claiming the supplies might be poisoned by their enemies.

Meanwhile, a handful of airplanes have been flying food and medicine into Biafra, despite Nigerian threats to shoot them down, but this is not nearly enough.

Sources at the talks here indicated the delegates were considering a proposal by the Biafran leader Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, for relief supplies to be landed by sea at Aguta, in the Niger River delta, and at the federally held city of Port Harcourt, and then for it to be sent north by demilitarized river routes.

President Hamani Diori of Niger, chairman of the talks being sponsored by the Organization of African Unity, also conferred with U.S. Ambassador Robert Ryan and British Charge d'Affaires E. Macmillan from the Ivory Coast. Both countries have promised to assist relief operations.

Pope Paul VI, speaking at his summer residence outside Rome, said Sunday that the Vatican had hired airplanes to send food and medicine to Biafrans.

From Biafra, Associated Press correspondent David Mazzarella reported the food situation is so bad that doctors at one hospital are telling outpatients to eat bush rats, bats, turtles, grasshoppers, lizards, snails and frogs. At the Holy Rosary Mission Hospital in Enkuku, he reported malnourished babies lay dying two in a bed, older children and adults walked around the wards in a daze. On the morning newsman visited the hospital, nurses tried to wake three children and found them dead.

Tribe Is Starving on Battlefront

By DAVID MAZZARELLA
Associated Press Writer
CAMP ITAK IKOT, Biafra (AP) — More than 600 members of the Ibibio tribe, caught in the middle of the Nigerian civil war, huddle in this front line refugee camp with nearly empty stomachs. Children suffering from malnutrition clutch frantically at their mothers' wizened breasts.

A 30-year-old woman lies panting on the ground, complaining in a creaking voice that she can no longer stand on her reed-thin legs.

"I can feed them for two more weeks," says the camp warden, the Rev. Lawrence Ntla, an Ibibio who became a Roman Catholic priest.

"We got 48 cans of tinned fish three days ago from Caritas (the Catholic relief organization) and today a man from the Red Cross came with six bags of milk and five bags each of egg powder and salt."

Father Ntla said this means the refugees, at least for a few days, will get a little more than their occasional cup of mashed cassava root.

Most of the refugees came to the camp from the no man's land around Ikot Ekpen, a town which has been fiercely contested by the armies of the Nigerian Federation and breakaway Biafra.

The province is inhabited mainly by Ibibios, a minority tribe overshadowed by the main antagonists in the civil war—the Ibos of Biafra and the Hausas and Yorubas of the federation.

Many of the Ibibios fled into the steaming forest when the fighting got heavy and have not come out.

"They are starving," said Father Ntla. "Soldiers and civil defense workers go into the bush to try to get them out, but many of them ran farther away, afraid the soldiers will shoot them."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Ocean waves crashing on shores, at times exerting 2,000 pounds of force per square foot, erode some coasts at surprising rates. Coastal erosion, The World Almanac notes, annually claims about 300 acres from Maryland and an average of 2 1/2 feet from New Jersey's shoreline. South Cape May, N.J., has been lost to the sea, a road leading into the Atlantic being the only vestige of a former existence.

Glenwood Man
Puts Stern-Wheeler
on Narrows Lake

On my return from Florida with the boat July 4 I reported on a stop-over at Jackson, Miss., with Clarence Chapman, the Fairchild sales engineer who sold us our big newspaper press. And I told about Clarence's tour of the Pearl River Reservoir, similar to our Millwood Lake, during which we encountered a Jackson surgeon, Dr. Gus Neely, who had outfitted his houseboat with a home-built steam engine.

Late Sunday afternoon L. Carter Johnson and I were on Narrows Lake for the first time in two years and I discovered mechanical geniuses aren't confined to Mississippi. We spotted a sure — enough stern — wheeler plowing along in front of the Highway 70 bridge at Daisy's Self Creek Boat Center dock.

You don't have to be an expert to separate a phony from the real McCoy. Arkla Village at Emmet has what appears to be a stern — wheeler in its little lagoon, but one time when Johnson and I were looking her over I pointed out there was no drive mechanism connected with the paddle wheel. On checking up I found in the pilot house a single-arm throttle-gear lever which resembled the shift on a Mercury outboard engine, and running this down shortly discovered the 5-horse engine behind a plywood screen. The outboard drove the boat and the paddle wheel merely "walked" the water. Johnson, a sentimentalist, said mournfully, "I wish you hadn't told me that."

But what we saw Sunday was the real McCoy. The paddle wheel's action was authentic, with a definite thrust that threw plenty of water as the boat went along. Besides, I saw the drive mechanism that was attached to the wheel.

I eased alongside and asked the skipper, "What do you drive her with?" "A Ford Model A engine," he replied. His barge moved right along — this miniature replica of one of America's most famous traditions — the river stern-wheeler.

The builder-owner is Aaron Dingle, who runs the Dingle Welding & Radiator Repair shop about a mile out of Glenwood. He keeps the boat at the Self Creek Center boat dock.

Johnson and I left Daisy and pushed on to the end of the lake at the Newhope bridge, which the high level of the Narrows now permits. However, you should be aware of the beach at the bridge picnic grounds, keeping well away from it, I knew the hazard but forgot the exact channel, and scraped a propeller.

We had barely started back for the dam, 13 miles away, when wind and rain engulfed us. It was 5 p.m., first a high wind, then, torrential rain, nearly blinding us as we crept down the high wall of the south bank. We had with us my Boxer dog and his lack of confidence in boat and crew was amusing — every time the lightning flashed he measured with his eyes the distance he might have to swim to the bank.

But we ran out of the rain at Bear Creek Bay, and rolled up to the Swaha boat ramp in sunlight. Jack and Virginia Gardner, aboard their houseboat, told us it hadn't rained a drop at the dam end of the lake — which to a couple of seafaring men and a dog was unbelievable.

El Dorado Pair Hunt for Gold

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A quest for Spanish gold and silver has sent an El Dorado surgeon and his teenage son to the Mexican coast.

Dr. David M. Yocum, 46, and his son, David, 18, are spending two weeks with eight American and 10 Mexican explorers on the Alacran Reef.

The reef, a jagged piece of coral that pushes only a few feet above the water for about three miles, was the nemesis of shipping in the Gulf of Mexico during the days of inaccurate navigation.

Dr. Yocum says the Mexican government has franchised the expedition under the sponsorship of an international organization known as Conservation, Exploration, Diving, Archeology and Museums, of which he and his son are members.

6 Die on State Roads Week-End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An Associated Press count shows six persons died on Arkansas highways during the 54-hour weekend, including three in one accident.

State Police said Bobby Shepherd, 22, of Seligman, Mo., his 2-year-old son, Bobby L. Shepherd, and Randy Johnson, 13, of Fort Smith died as a result of a three-car pileup Saturday one-half mile north of Winslow on U.S. 71.

Shepherd and his son were found dead on arrival at a Fort Smith hospital. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson of Fort Smith, died early Sunday at Fayetteville.

Officers said the accident occurred when Mrs. Elsie Shepherd, 17, of Seligman lost control of her northbound vehicle on a curve. Authorities said it collided with a southbound car driven by Mrs. Johnson, 38. Mrs. Johnson's car was then struck from behind by a car driven by Mathis Newkirk, 20, of Jesselville.

Mrs. Shepherd was in poor condition Sunday night at a Fayetteville hospital. Mrs. Johnson was reported in fair condition and Tommy Johnson, 5, was in good condition. Two persons were killed and seven injured in a three-car wreck Sunday on Arkansas 26, about 9.3 miles west of Arkadelphia.

The victims were Mrs. Pauline Willis of Broken Bow, Okla., and Luther Stanley Williams, 67, of Malvern.

State Trooper Cleo Lawson said James Davis, 22, was attempting to pass a car driven by Chester G. Willis, 43, of Broken Bow, when the Davis vehicle struck the rear of the Willis car, knocking it into the path of a truck driven by Walter M. Stetson, 58, of Malvern.

Child With Liver Transplant Year Ago Is Dying of Cancer

By BURL OEBORNE
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — On Tuesday little Julie Cherie Rodriguez, 2, will have lived exactly a year—longer than anyone else known to medicine—with a transplanted liver.

But for the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo., the gratitude of reaching this milestone is tempered by knowledge that cancer—the disease that destroyed Julie's own liver—has reappeared elsewhere in her body and soon will claim her life.

"We're still grateful that we have had her another year," said Rodriguez, a steel mill employee in Pueblo. "When at least she knows who her mommy is and who her daddy is," he said.

When Julie received her new liver July 23, 1967, at the University of Colorado Medical Center, there were no known survivors of such operations. Now there are nine, including seven in Denver.

This group includes a 4-year-old Minnesota boy who received a new liver in an operation early last year. He was reported in satisfactory condition, as was a 1-year-old Texas boy who received a kidney from the same donor. Neither was identified.

GI Feelings on Gun Control Proposals Cover a Wide Range

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — An informal survey among American combat troops whose lives depend on their weapons shows a strong sentiment for moderate to strong gun control laws in the United States.

But at the same time, most of the GIs interviewed on Saigon's outer defense perimeter said they thought short of confiscation controls would do little to cut down on gun deaths.

Spec. 6 Jerry Ballard of Kansas City, Mo., said, "I'm a member of the National Rifle Association (NRA) and I'm against confiscation. But I think mandatory registration of weapons is okay. A gun is no different from a car as far as that goes. And stopping mail order sales is a good idea."

Lt. Alfred Pick of Dallas, Tex., said proposed gun laws seemed "ridiculous. Crooks and assassins can always get a gun whether it is registered or not." Pick said he was not opposed to reasonable gun laws.

Spec. 4 Paul Young of Burbank, Calif., said as a devoted hunter, he would not mind gun registration laws but added: "No matter what gun laws they pass, if someone really wants a gun he'll find a way to get it."

Reagan Is Political Hit in Arkansas

By RUTH ANN VAUGHAN
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A polished veteran movie star turned politician, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, flew the Republican party banner in Arkansas Saturday during a 2½-hour visit.

The favorite son presidential nominee arrived in Little Rock at 10:55 a.m. amidst a flurry of national and local press and left for Charlottesville, Va., 155 minutes later.

Attention from newsmen and spectators is nothing to the 58-year-old Reagan. During his lengthy movie career and his stint on television with the "Death Valley Days" series, Reagan learned the tricks of audience appeal.

He smiles, he appears sincere, he tells jokes well, he speaks clearly, and he relates with ease to an audience.

Reagan alighted from the plane wearing a dark blue businessman's suit, greeted the local dignitaries and was whisked away in Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's limousine.

tendency to reject the new organ—including the development of antilymphocyte globulin—helped the organ to continue to function.

But while the doctors succeeded in maintaining function of the transplanted liver, fighting the cancer was another matter. It kept reappearing in other areas.

The dark-haired little girl with the flashing eyes is too young to know her ordeal offers hope to thousands who have or will have a fatal, incurable liver ailment.

But her parents know, "We know this will end Julie's life," Rodriguez said. But they also know the transplant itself was successful, and said more attention must be given the problem of finding the solution to cancer.

"We urge people to urge their legislators to appropriate more money for medical research, to find the cure for cancer and other diseases for which we don't have the answers," he said.

"I am a former Marine and I know we must stop communism, but we're spending too much money on the Vietnam war. We've got to think right now for our grandchildren—how to save them from disease, not just spend their money on war and space," he continued.

And don't forget, it's the people who do the killing, not the guns. Weapons are not bad by themselves."

"A lot of guys worry about registration because they think it may eventually violate their right to bear arms," said Spec. 4 John Krumpus of Des Moines, Ill.

"But I think it's a great idea to register and license weapons."

Cities Must Spend More, U.S. Advises

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — John W. Gardner, a former member of President Johnson's Cabinet told the nation's governors today that cities will have to "spend a great deal more money" to help solve urban problems.

Unless more money is spent "we cannot solve the awesome problems that cloud our future as a nation," he said in remarks prepared for the opening business session of the National Governors' Conference.

"We will have to raise new taxes. We will have to design new programs," added Gardner, chairman of the Urban Coalition, an organization recently formed by businessmen and civil right leaders to tackle urban problems.

He urged the governors to help convince Americans that more money is needed now. He said the presidential candidates should now be talking of rebuilding America.

"The rhetoric of public men, reflecting as it does the sensitivities of the moment, abounds in big ideas with small price tags," he said. "Or big ideas with no price tags at all."

"I urge that we come out of our trance. We are not going to get the kind of money we need unless informed Americans accept, not reluctantly but enthusiastically, an overriding commitment to the solution of these problems," he said.

Conference Chairman Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts took a slap at the federal administration in officially opening the sessions.

He said in a prepared speech that the federal government must realize it needs the cooperation of the states to help make the multitude of federal programs—air and water pollution control, housing and urban development, education, transportation—a success.

"There must be decentralized administration, or else the burden of red tape will only make these programs self-defeating," he said.

"Washington itself is slowly coming to realize that it must have the cooperation of the states if these programs are to work—that it cannot do the job itself," he said.

Another problem that needs urgent attention, Volpe said, is the control of the sale of firearms. He asked each governor "to strive for the enactment of stronger fire-arms control" within their own states. He noted that Massachusetts has a new law requiring identification cards of anyone desiring to buy or possess a firearm in that state.

Dr. Lowell Harris Is Re-Elected

Dr. Lowell Orson Harris of Hope has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members come up for re-election every third year on the date of election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

Ray Pleads Innocent in King's Death

By DOUGSTONE
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray pleaded innocent today to a charge of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. here April 4 and trial was set for Nov. 12.

Appearing publicly for the first time since his extradition hearings in London, England, Ray entered his plea through his lawyer, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala.

Security officers searched persons who entered the Shelby County Criminal Courtroom to witness Ray's arraignment.

Ray, wearing a checked blue sport coat and blue slacks, was led into the courtroom at 10:57 a.m. CDT, and the arraignment proceedings ended 12 minutes later. Ray was returned to his steel-lined, air-conditioned cell block in the county jail.

Hanes had both indictments read—one alleging murder in the first degree and the other charging Ray with carrying a dangerous weapon.

At the end of each reading, Hanes said: "My client wishes

New Wave of Terrorism Hits Saigon

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A new wave of Viet Cong terrorism hit Saigon and two provincial capitals Sunday, killing 13 Vietnamese and wounding 92.

Intelligence sources have said terrorist attacks might precede the threatened third major enemy offensive of the year, but the lull in the ground war still continued.

Twelve Vietnamese were killed and 91 wounded in the weekend bombing of four theaters, one of them only a block from national police headquarters in Saigon. A large explosive charge set off outside the Saigon theater killed four persons and wounded 52. Also in Saigon, a minor official was assassinated and a 17-year-old boy seriously wounded.

A hand grenade was thrown into a group of militiamen watching a traveling troupe perform in Phu Cuong, a provincial capital 15 miles north of Saigon. Four persons were killed and 23 wounded, including two of the performers.

Terrorists set off bombs outside two theaters in Ben Tre, another provincial capital in the Mekong Delta 50 miles south-east of Saigon. Government headquarters said four persons were killed and 16 wounded.

Vietnamese informants say at least 1,000 Viet Cong troops

Dr. Rogers Baptist Centennial Speaker

DR. WALLACE R. ROGERS

Dr. Wallace R. Rogers, oldest living former pastor of First Baptist Church of Hope, will be the featured speaker next Sunday morning as part of the church's centennial celebration.

Other former pastors, including Dr. S. A. Whitlow and Dr. John H. McClanahan, will be returning for the three-day event that begins with a church-wide picnic Friday night at Fair Park.

On Saturday night, a pageant depicting 100 years of church history will be held in the sanctuary.

Dr. Rogers served the church from 1931 to 1936. During these depression years one of the church's educational buildings was erected under the leadership of Dr. Rogers.

Because of the depression, it took an all-out effort by Sunday School and church members to complete the building. The structure became known as Faith Hall . . . and it still remains by that name to many of the elder members.

Punitive Use of U.S. Funds to Enforce Race Law Forbidden

By JACK R. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say a little-noticed provision passed by the House would cripple the federal government's Southern school desegregation program.

The provision, sponsored by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., prohibits use of federal funds to compel busing of students, to force abolition of any school or to force students to attend any school against the choice of their parents.

It says the Department of Health, Education and Welfare cannot use its funds for such actions—or to force any such actions as a prerequisite for receipt of federal aid by school districts.

As part of the Labor-HEW appropriations bill, the provision would be effective during the current fiscal year.

The bill passed by the House June 26 and before a Senate subcommittee today, appears to have a good chance of passing the Senate, according to a subcommittee spokesman.

The threat of cutting off federal funds has been the department's main tool for bringing about racial integration of Southern schools.

Civil rights officials said in a series of interviews that the crucial part of the provision is that which deals with the parents' choice of a school for their youngsters.

They believe this would mean HEW would have to accept freedom-of-choice desegregation plans, even if the plans had failed to produce no more than token integration.

The Supreme Court ruled May 27 that if freedom-of-choice proves effective, "it is acceptable, but if it fails to undo segregation, other means must be used to achieve this end."

Boyed by the ruling, officials of HEW's Office for Civil Rights were confident they could complete most of their compliance work in the South by the fall of 1969. They previously had set that time as a deadline for school districts to complete desegregation. The department declined to give any official interpretation to the measure passed by the House except to say HEW strongly opposes it.

Peter Libassi, who was director of the federal program until he joined the Urban Coalition a few months ago, said that at the very least the provision "would break the pace of the program at a crucial time—just when the department was about to have it wrapped up."

He added: "And what's worse, it would give support to the view of Negroes who have been saying, 'See, you can't trust white people. Burn the place down. Throw another stone.'"

Russian Offers Hand to U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today carried in full a proposal by a prominent Soviet nuclear physicist for widespread collaboration between the United States and the Soviet Union by the year 2000.

The Times said Andrei D. Sakharov, 47-year-old member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, has been circulating the plan among acquaintances without official sanction.

Sakharov warns that "convergence" of the two top powers is the only way of averting such dangers as thermonuclear war, overpopulation, famine in the poverty-stricken areas of the world, chemical pollution and police dictatorships of the Hitler, Stalin and Mao Tse-tung varieties.

Russian Ultimatum to Czechs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party today rejected the defense by Czechoslovak party leaders of their liberal course and demanded again that the leaders in Prague come to the Soviet Union for a showdown meeting today or Tuesday.

Reports from Prague indicated the demand for a meeting on Soviet soil would be rejected. The Czechoslovak leaders were reported willing to meet their Soviet critics, but only on their own territory.

Pravda rejected the Prague leadership's denial last week of charges made against it by the Warsaw meeting of the Soviet Union and its four hard-line allies—East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary.

The Soviet party paper accused the Czechoslovak leaders of playing down the threat to the Communist system in Czechoslovakia. It warned that the Soviet Union regards the defense of communism everywhere in the East Bloc as its business.

Echoing the charges of the Warsaw meeting, Pravda said the "right-wing, anti-Socialist forces in Czechoslovakia, encouraged and supported by imperialist reaction, are bringing matters to a liquidation of the guiding role of the Communist party in society, to undermining the Socialist state and system, to the restoration of the capitalist order. They have captured the mass media—the press, radio and television—and are using them for anti-Socialist propaganda trying to fan hatred for the Soviet Union and other Socialist countries."

Czechs on Prague's streets agreed that Czechoslovak Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek should not go to Russia to meet the Soviet party leaders.

"Dubcek shouldn't give in," said a girl student. "We're with him all the way. If they want something, let them come here."

The reply to the Russian invitation was believed being delayed until all the 16,000 Russian soldiers who took part in Warsaw Pact maneuvers that ended June 30 have the country.

By Sunday, the day they were officially scheduled to leave, most of the Russians were reported in Eastern Slovakia, presumably en route home. It appeared that all of them could not be out of the country before Wednesday, even if there were no more delays.

TV Strike at Site of GOP Meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pickets marched at the Convention Hall again today as a dispute over the feeding of a computerized television device continued to delay finishing touches on the meeting hall for the Republican National Convention.

Officials insisted, however, that the convention will open on schedule Aug. 5.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) posted 25 pickets at Convention Hall Saturday in a disagreement with the CBS television network over who is to feed information into a computerized device which superimposes information on the television screen.

Local 1213 of the electrical workers' union claims CBE is unfair in refusing to hire a union member to program the untried machine intended to flash names and titles on television screens.

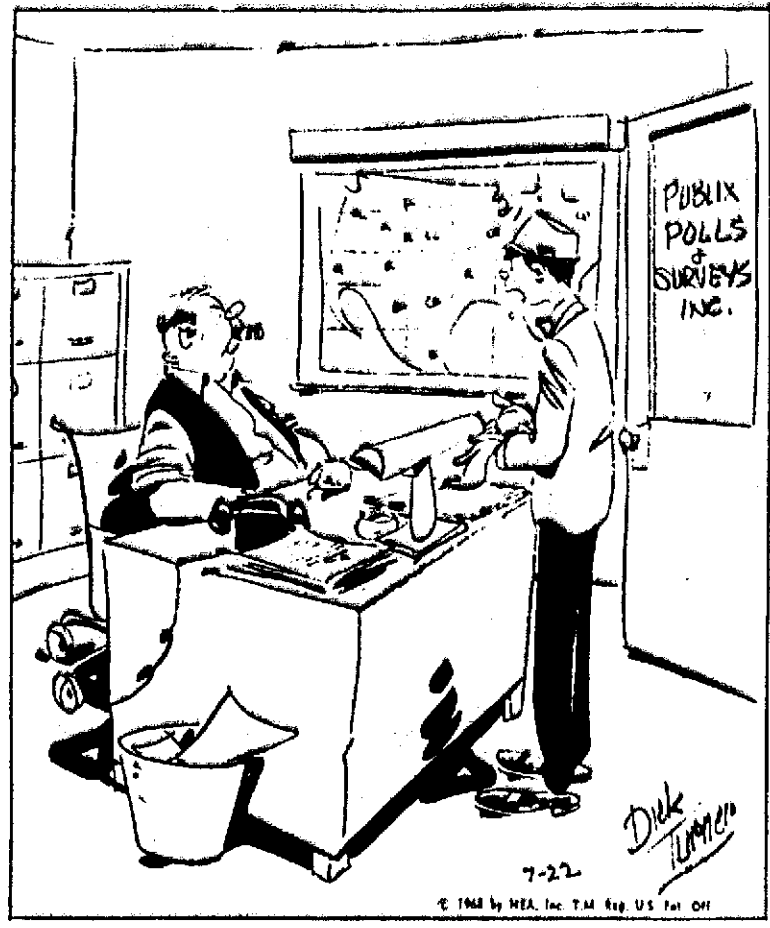

Bill Leonard, vice president of CBS news and supervisor of the network's GOP coverage preparations, said the network feels the function belongs to an editorial employee.

McCarthy Challenges HH Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugent J. McCarthy's camp has proposed three national television confrontations with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on "the issues confronting and dividing the nation and the party" from Vietnam to economics.

Both the Democratic presidential rivals agreed during a weekend filled with pre-national convention political activity to join in at least one televised discussion, but there was little agreement on details.

Other developments included a report Humphrey had turned down a suggestion that he resign the vice presidency to show independence from the Johnson administration, and California Gov. Ronald Reagan said he "couldn't possibly" announce as a GOP presidential contender before the party's convention.

Blair Clark, McCarthy's campaign director, Sunday proposed separate McCarthy-Humphrey televised discussions on foreign policy, domestic and economic policy, and the candidates' concepts of the presidency and government.

Humphrey aides favored a weekend confrontation the week before the Democratic National Convention begins Aug. 26 but McCarthy's people said it should be earlier to permit delegates and the public to analyze what they heard.

The two sides also disagreed on what to call the meeting. Humphrey's people used the term "discussion" and although McCarthy aides were not saying "debate" as in the past, they said their man wanted "the freest and clearest" exchange of views.

Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff said Sunday Humphrey turned down the vice presidency resignation suggestion a week ago during a meeting with Hoff and Maine Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis.

Hoff said he told Humphrey his major campaign problem is that "you can't be your own man" while serving as vice president.

But the governor said Humphrey replied he could not resign the position to which he was elected.

Curtis did not join in Hoff's suggestion but told newsmen nomination of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as Humphrey's vice presidential running mate might provide the drama and wider appeal he said Humphrey's campaign needs.

Hoff and Curtis told of the Humphrey meeting at a National Governors Conference in Cincinnati Sunday dominated by huddles on the nominating conventions next month.

There had been new talk Reagan might announce as an active GOP presidential contender but he repeated on arrival he would not become one before his nomination as a favorite-son candidate at the convention.

"I couldn't possibly make a change on that at this time,"

Reagan said, "We'll go to the convention and then it's up to the delegates."

But Michigan Gov. George Romney said: "I consider he's a pretty active candidate now. He seems to be doing pretty well."

A reported plan at the conference to form a coalition of Republican governors behind one candidate lost momentum when Gov. James A. Rhodes, a favorite son, said he would not commit his key Ohio convention delegation to anyone.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, meanwhile, predicted GOP presidential rival Richard M. Nixon will fall at least 100 delegate votes short of the 667 needed to win nomination on the first ballot.

Bernard Campaign Gets Boost

Charles Bernard of Earle, the Republican who is seeking the Senate seat held by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., grabbed most of the spotlight away from the Democratic candidates over the weekend.

Bernard's campaign was given a boost Saturday when California Gov. Ronald Reagan flew into Little Rock to speak at a fund-raising rally and luncheon in behalf of Bernard.

Reagan left the state after being here about two and a half hours, and Bernard went to West Memphis to attend a political rally and spoke to a crowd of about 400.

He said Fulbright had spent the last five years "doing what he pleased in Washington and now he's spent the last six months trying to tell the voters he's interested in Arkansas."

Bernard said he was opposed to proposed gun control legislation. He said a person who intended to commit murder would find a way.

Two of Fulbright's Democratic opponents also spoke at West Memphis.

Foster Johnson of Little Rock attacked the United Nations. He said the organization would collapse if the United States would pay only its share of the organization's large budget.

Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock reiterated a charge that Arkansas was losing millions of dollars because corporations with plants in the state pay income taxes in other states but not Arkansas. He also defended his proposed $2.50 minimum wage.

At a rally in North Little Rock, Jim Johnson of Conway continued his criticism of Fulbright. He said the United States is fighting a war in Vietnam "that Bull Fulbright got us into."

"He voted against letting children pray in school," Johnson said. "I want to see how he votes when they vote to remove the tax exemptions for churches."

Bennett Says GOP Backing 2 Democrats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The countdown toward election day in Arkansas is under way and about a half million voters are expected to go to the polls a week from Tuesday to make their choices in several high-office races.
The candidates in the governor's race, meanwhile, continued their campaign strategy over the weekend of not criticizing each other to any bitter degree.
Democratic candidate Bruce Bennett came the closest to name-calling, but in the end the El Dorado lawyer declined to say whom he was talking about, calling them the "weaker" candidates.

Speaking at West Memphis, Bennett charged that Republicans are backing two of the other five Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls to insure Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's re-election.

Bennett said the GOP used the same tactics in 1966 to "set up a straw man candidate" against Rockefeller.

"The people of Arkansas must not, and will not, be fooled again," he said. "I merely call this Trojan horse tactic to their attention and brand it as a paper tiger."

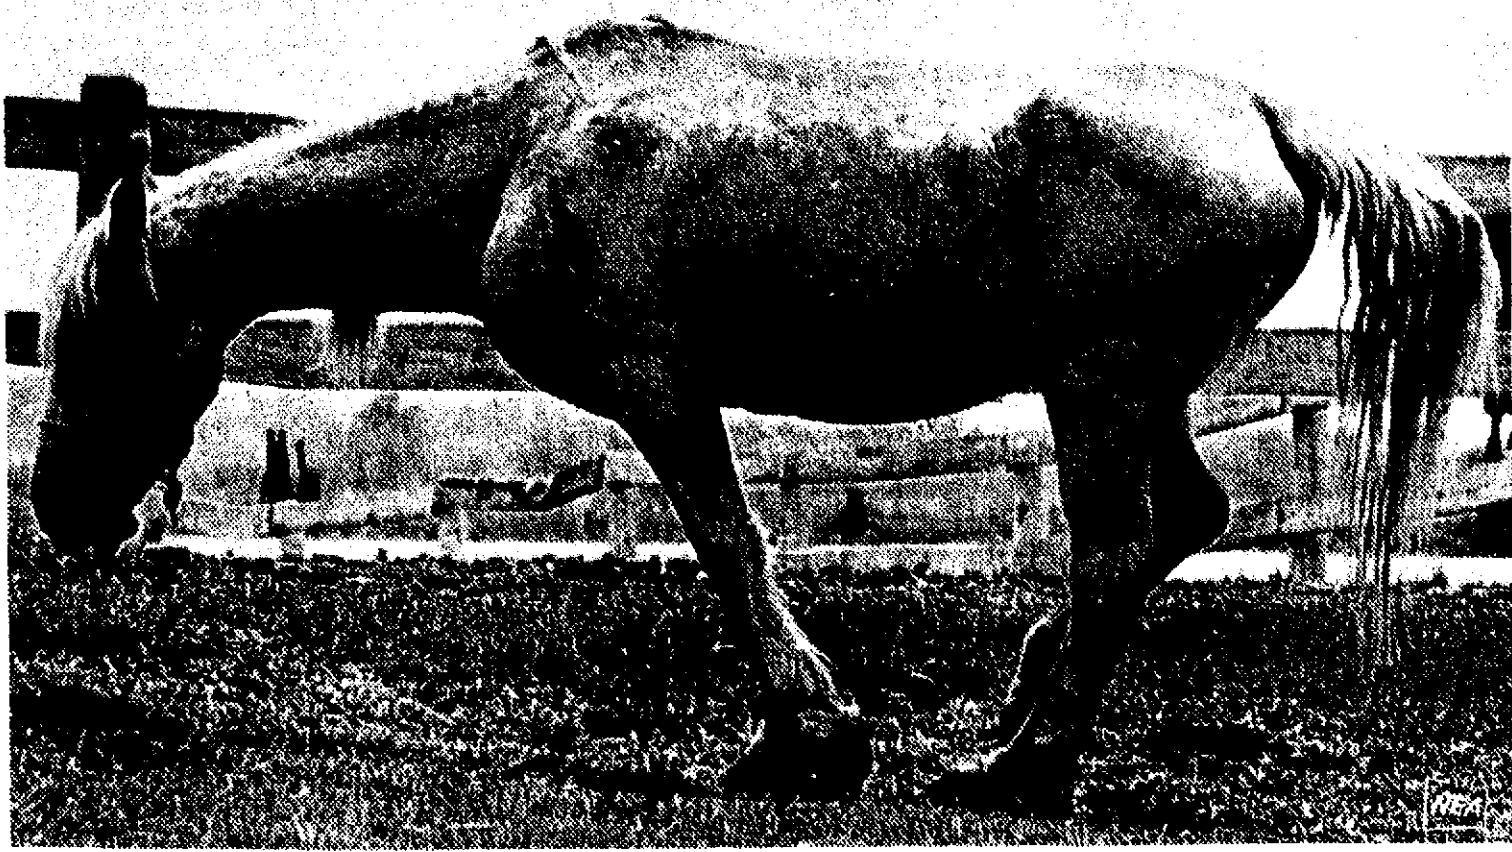

Ted Boswell, who received the endorsement for governor from the United Auto Workers union in Arkansas Saturday, said at West Memphis that he was offering the voters something "new and fresh."

Boswell reiterated that he was not connected with the "old guard," and said that the "old guard" had divided itself too thinly by backing several candidates.

Mrs. Virginia Johnson, another Democratic candidate, continued her criticism of the Rockefeller administration in a speech at West Memphis. She said the past 18 months had been a "comedy of errors" under Rockefeller's leadership.

She said that raising the per capita income was the state's top problem, and said this could be done through industrialization and tourism.

Frank Whitbeck, another Democratic hopeful speaking at West Memphis, said there was a need for new leadership. He said the fact that he had not served in public office would be an asset because he would not owe allegiance to any person or group. Whitbeck said he felt he could balance the state's budget without reducing state services. Then four of the six Democratic candidates for governor appeared at a rally Saturday night at North Little Rock, and two other candidates sent representatives.

Mrs. Johnson said her first order of business would be "cleaning up the mess and setting the moral tone." Marion Crank reviewed his qualifications and said, "We've got amateurs in office and we do not need any more on-the-job training for governors in Arkansas."

Boswell urged giving 18-year-olds the right to vote and called again for a constitutional convention. "The people are ready to turn to a nonpolitician," he said.

Clyde Byrd, another Democratic candidate, reviewed his record while he was a state senator and director of the Arkansas Livestock Show.

Negro House Is Fired on in Vermont

IRASBURG, Vt. (AP) — State police today guarded the home of the Rev. David Johnson, a Negro and a Baptist minister, after marauders last week fired five shotgun blasts at the house.

"I guess it was our welcoming committee," Johnson, 39, said Sunday. Johnson and his family came to Vermont early in July, from Seaside, Calif., he said, to get away from racism.

The 700 people in this dairy farming community 15 miles from the Canadian border made the family feel at home, he said. "People treated us like we were their own children," he said, "or like we had been gone 20 or 30 years. It was genuine."

But the minister said he believed at least one of the three persons he saw in the car from which the shot gun blasts came Thursday night might have been in his house. He said a number of visitors greeted the family after they arrived in Irasburg. "They knew the layout," he said. "The shooting was cut and dried. It was not a hurry up affair."

Johnson said the car was a late model and cruised slowly by the house as the shots were fired.

"I won't run," he said, "they can burn the house down and everything else, but I'll just pitch me a pup tent in the front yard if I have to."

The Rev. Mr. Johnson was a master sergeant in the Army, fought in the Korean war and was discharged two years ago. He was ordained Jan. 13 and is being interviewed for a permanent pastorate in Vermont.

Sunday Bad Day Abroad for U.S.A.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sunday was a bad day for American windows in two foreign cities. Demonstrators left piles of broken glass at the Playboy Club and Hilton Hotel in London and at the U.S. Information Service Library in Izmir, Turkey.

In London, a shouting mob of 500 broke away from a crowd of 10,000 anti-Vietnam demonstrators and attacked the American hotel and club in London's fashionable West End.

Screaming "Down with the Bourgeoisie," they smashed car windshields, broke a big plate glass window at the Playboy Club, ignited rubber boxes and tires at a garage and hurled stones and bottles in Hyde Park. The mob smashed the main entrance glass doors at the Hilton and shattered glass windows in a restaurant and snack bar. Guests and hotel staff personnel watched from upper stories.

The crowd then surged across Park Lane, dodging police and snarling traffic. Some demonstrators continued stoning passing automobiles. A limousine belonging to an Arab sheik was wrecked. The aftermath: 33 police, 14 demonstrators and one elderly bystander injured and 48 demonstrators arrested. Edward Taylor, a Conservative member of Parliament, called for a ban on demonstrations in London.

In Turkey, riot police arrested five youths in the Aegean port city of Izmir on charges of smashing the plate glass windows of the American library. Seven other persons were arrested in Ankara for attacking an American colonel in the street.

The anti-Americanism started last Monday with the arrival in Istanbul of units of the U.S. Sixth Fleet for a visit.

26th Heart Transplant Doing Well

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at St. Luke's Episcopal hospital have expressed satisfaction with the progress of the world's 26th heart recipient, Fred C. Everman, 58, of Alexandria, Va.

Everman, a retired barber, received the heart of a Houston housewife Saturday in the sixth such operation performed at the hospital.

A surgical team led by Dr. Denton A. Cooley implanted the heart of Mrs. Evelyn G. Krikorian, 33, who died Saturday of complications after a cardiac arrest, in Everman.

A native of Bremerhaven, Germany, the transplant recipient came to the United States in 1927. He is one of four transplant patients living in the hospital. The others also are progressing satisfactorily, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Krikorian, wife of an engineer at the Manned Spacecraft Center near here, died Saturday and physicians began the operation 10 minutes later.

The transplanted heart started without electrical shock, the spokesman said.

Everman entered the hospital June 29 after having suffered from several heart attacks and coronary artery disease.

Mail Order Shotgun Sale Is Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which has virtually killed President Johnson's hopes for a gun registration law this session, turned today to the proposed ban on mail order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Amendments for licensing of gun owners, another Johnson proposal, also were up for action before a final House vote on gun controls, possibly late in the day.

The bill would add long guns and ammunition to the congressional ban on mail order sales of pistols, which was part of the recently-passed omnibus crime bill. It also would prohibit over-the-counter gun sales to juveniles, and nonresidents except those from adjoining states.

Two gun registration amendments were killed Friday by two-to-one votes which appeared restaurant, a jewelry store and a clothing store.

Fire and police officials reported an odor of gas immediately following the explosion on the southern fringe of Chicago's Loop. They suspected the blast was caused by gas.

But William J. Ball, vice president of operators for Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co., disputed that. He said the smell of gas did not necessarily mean that the blast was caused by a gas leak. Instead, he said a leak could have been caused by the explosion.

Fire officials said it was impossible to give a total estimate of damage because of widespread window breakage.

The building had housed a to serve notice at the Senate that the House is not willing to compromise in conference and go along with a registration bill this session.

Johnson called shortly after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination for legislation to require registration of every gun in the nation and licensing of all gun owners.

An amendment offered by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., that would have required registration of all firearms was defeated 172-68.

A less stringent amendment sponsored by Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., for registration of pistols only was defeated 168-89.

But backers of stronger gun controls won approval of an amendment that would require mandatory prison sentences for carrying or using a gun while committing a federal felony such as rape, murder or robbery.

Violation would bring from one to 10 years for the first offense and 5 to 25 years for subsequent offenses. The sentences would have to be in addition to, not concurrent with, jail terms for the federal felony.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., was a substitute for one by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., that would have required mandatory sentences for use of guns in connection with state as well as federal felonies.

Amputee Learns to Ride Horse

DILLON, Colo. (AP) — Vietnam combat veteran Robert Williams Jr., swung his one leg off a horse after three days high in the Colorado Rockies.

"I'd like to challenge any person with two legs to try it," said Sgt. I. C. Williams, 31, of Salina, Kan., giving further credence to an Army doctor's unusual methods of getting war amputees back into the mainstream of living.

Six patients at the Army's Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver—four leg amputees and two with crippling leg nerve damage—made the horseback pack trip into the rugged, 8,500-foot altitude Gore Range—eagles nest wilderness area over the weekend.

When they returned Sunday evening, they were unanimous that the under-taking was a success.

"No trouble whatsoever," said Williams.

Most wore artificial limbs on the trip.

Others making the trip were amputees Spec. 4 Gerald M. Nowlin, 24, Portland, Ind.; Spec. 4 Billy Lee, 21, Kansas City, Kan.; and Spec. 4 Wayne Bryars, 20, Norman Okla., and Spec. 4 Nick Simonic, 19, Cleveland Ohio, and Spec. 4 Richard Luecke, 19, Chicago, Ill., both of whom suffered nerve damage from gunshot wounds in the legs. All six saw combat in Vietnam.

HELEN HELP US!

By Helen Bottel

AGAINST THE "ODDS"

Dear Helen: We live next door to a vacant lot. Recently some "odd" people have been gathering there to drink beer in the evenings. They create no disturbance.

What concerns us, however, is that some of the men are dressed as women and other men carry on necking parties with them. We have a young son and are afraid he'll get wrong ideas.

My husband claims there is no law in our state that says men can't dress as women. So what can we do—APPREHENSIVE

Dear Apprehensive: The odds are against an arrest on unusual dress alone, but your case against the "odds," concerns for "creating a public nuisance." Report it to the district attorney or your local police, and I think the lot will soon be vacated.—H.

Dear Helen: Please say something, and get comments from your readers, about LOVE.

Our college-age daughter still believes in fairy tale romances, a perfect relationship with no disagreements—and bells ringing every time they kiss. We try to tell her this is unrealistic, but she insists that love must be two people drifting off into a golden sunset forever and ever. What would you suggest?

—CO-ED'S PARENTS

Dear Parents: Enrollment in a few good Family Life courses which give students a realistic view of human problems, and hopefully teach them that the "perfect," completely untroubled marriage is not only impossible but would be nothing but dull.—H.

Dear Helen: Our sister, aged 20, is the youngest in a family of seven, and the only one still at home. She's a strange mixture of responsibility and rebellion, and because our parents turn lion, and because our parents turn to us for advice we're turning to you.

She quit school before graduating to care for our mother who was ill. She didn't have to, as some of us would have taken over, but she wanted to help. For three years she took full charge of the house and never once shirked.

For the last two years, however, she has held five jobs, but has been absent more than present on them. She leaves for work, but doesn't report. We think she may be spending her time with a man. Faced with this, she says our parents boss too much, won't allow her to have boy friends, or even girl friends at home.

Now my mother, at the suggestion of our brother, has laid down stricter rules: Midnight curfew, be home right after work, limited phone calls. After last week, when she only worked seven hours, they are going to take away her car keys and claim her check.

Last evening she went away when our parents weren't home, leaving a note when she'd be in. We see nothing wrong in this, but my father locked her out, then finally, after much argument, let her in and spanked her. She says she can't talk to our folks as they get angry too fast.

She wants to move out. Do you think she is mature enough?

—SISTERS

Dear Sisters: At age 15, your sister was mature enough to run a home. At 20, she's old enough to leave it. The longer she stays, the less mature she will become, against the "odds," concerns for how could she "grow up," "creating a public nuisance," surrounded by such childish examples?—H.

Thieu Sees Hope for Viet Army

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Tex., (AP)—President Johnson is enjoying a rancher's respite in the Texas hills after U.S.-Vietnam summit sessions that withered hopes for any early cease-fire or even a let-up in the Vietnam war.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam did see some prospect, nevertheless, that his army's power will grow to the point of permitting what he termed a phasing out of some American military units one at a time in 1969. But he stressed this would not mean a complete U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Johnson and Thieu put in 10 hours conferring privately or with key advisers flanking them in meetings Friday and Saturday in Hawaii.

Thieu stayed on a bit afterward to relish the delights of sun, sand and surf at famed Waikiki beach.

Johnson, never known publicly to have tried this type of relaxation on visits to the "paradise of the Pacific," was off by jet for the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, 65 miles west of here, shortly after the final meeting ended at the U.S. Pacific Command hilltop headquarters overlooking Pearl Harbor.

Back home, the President and Mrs. Johnson attended Mass Sunday at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church in Stonewall, a mile or so up the Pedernales River from the ranch.

The time of the presidential return to Washington was flexible. It could be Tuesday night, by way of Cincinnati. The national Governors Conference

There has been putting on pressure for a Johnson appearance and speech.

The Honolulu summit conference closed with a communique, a statement by Johnson to reporters, and a Thieu news conference.

The two presidents agreed that the comparative lull in the Asiatic war by no means represents any deescalation by the enemy, but rather a regrouping for "Renewed offensive action at some time in the next two months." They promised "to meet and defeat whatever military and terrorist actions might be initiated by the other side."

Johnson and Thieu said they detected no signs of a breakthrough at the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace discussions in Paris and called on the other side "to take the road toward peace now open to and Thieu. Johnson said this never came up at Honolulu.

"The big rumors about meeting here to discuss stopping the bombing or to pull out or to do these things are just pure absolute tommyrot and fiction," he said in his final statement to reporters.

He said there was no "fighting among us or division among the allies" and thus the conference was not very exciting.

Henry Mencken scornfully labeled the American public "bohoisie."

Mental Retardation: A Complex Problem

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The more we doctors study the problems of mental retardation the more complex they become. Mental retardation is not a single disease but a group of diseases for which new causes are constantly being found. These include damage to the developing embryo by virus diseases of the mother early in her pregnancy—a notable example is German measles; exposure of the pelvis to X rays during early pregnancy; and mongolism or other conditions the cause of which is not known except that heredity may play a part.

A large group of diseases called inborn errors of metabolism accounts for many cases of mental retardation. These include phenylketonuria (PKU), maple syrup urine disease, homocystinuria, tyrosinemia and many others in which the victim's body is unable to use certain amino acids required in normal functioning.

This group of diseases has been studied intensively in recent years. If such a disease is identified in a child's first week of life and the amino acid that can't be utilized is eliminated from his diet, brain damage can be prevented.

The degree of retardation varies widely in different victims. It is measured by giving some type of intelligence test appropriate to the child's age. Because children learn at different rates it is a mistake to label a slow starter a mental retardate but, if your child is behind others of his age in learning to walk, talk, etc., it is wise to give him a lot of special attention coupled with an abundance of love.

In all infants suspected of being retarded the first step to be taken is to get an accurate diagnosis of the cause and severity of the trouble. For some of these children a special diet is all that is needed. For others certain drugs have proved useful and for all of them every effort must be made to provide the kind of training that will give them the best chance of making maximal use of whatever limited mental powers they have.
